Overview

Brady L. Dreasher entered the art field in 1998 and has served the arts industry as an appraiser, artist's representative, broker, art fair VIP director during Art Basel, exhibition curator, consignment contract negotiator, estate consultant, auction conductor, collector, private-treaty acquisition consultant, expert witness (deposing & testifying), and collection manager. After starting Original Art Brokerage in 2000 while attending Wichita State University, the company's name was changed in 2010 as it grew and transitioned into a nationally-known and regionally recognized Personal Property Appraisal Firm known as Art of Estates.

As a member of the Better Business Bureau, Indy Chamber, and Angie's List with an A+ rating, Art of Estates director Brady Dreasher brings a spectrum of experience to the evaluation field. After spending 10 years selling fine art privately and subsequently 5 more years with Kansas' largest privately-owned retail gallery, Dreasher performed estate sales, and eventually dedicated himself to the appraisal industry. This foundation of knowledge coupled with educational training from trusted associations by attending more than 17 conferences and 26 art and antique fairs across the United States within the past 7 years has added even more reliability to his company's expertise.

Dreasher is the recipient of International Society of Appraiser's 2015 Leadership Award, is a member of four respected appraisal organizations and has been involved with multiple International Society of Appraiser committees, in addition to being featured in the coveted publications of the Miami Art Guide, Hollywood Sentinel, Dallas Paper City Magazine, Antique Trader Magazine, Art-Collecting of Seattle and Ocean Drive Magazine of Miami, Kansas City Public Television (KCPT), television stations KWCH News of Kansas, KAKE-TV News of Wichita, and radio stations KCLY of Kansas and WIBC of Indianapolis.
